

Standards of professional practice

17 July 2017 DRAFT

ICiPS
COLLABORATE • INNOVATE • EDUCATE

BACKGROUND

ICiPS offers three levels of Professional Membership;

1. Member – This is the foundation level and is appropriate for those who have had some experience of leading incremental or step change projects and have been involved in championing CI.
2. Practitioner – This level is suited to those who have extensive experience of CI at strategic or tactical level. Typically they are mid to senior managers.
3. Fellow – This is the highest level of Professional member. Typically Fellows have 10 years plus experience. They have extensive experience, introduced CI cultures and led multi-agency improvement.

At Practitioner level we offer two options; the first for those who lead CI as an integral part of their management accountabilities and the second for those who deliver CI strategies through training or the implementation of a portfolio of improvement projects.

To become a professional member of ICiPS requires three areas to be evidenced:

1. Underpinning knowledge
2. Applied knowledge
3. Behaviours

The requirements are divided into ‘assignments’ which contain a number of elements, every one of which must be addressed. An outline of the requirements for each level of membership are laid out in tables of the following pages. Evidence must showcase activity you have been accountable for and can include:

- Case studies
- PowerPoint presentations
- Reports and feedback
- Emails
- Testimony – a limited amount of evidence may be provided this way

When you commence your journey by signing up as an Associate, you will be provided with an on-line learning account. Each assignment is contained within this along with details of the types of evidence acceptable. Evidence is uploaded and submitted via this account.

The framework should be considered a development pathway enabling self-study and there is no time limit on developing your portfolio. As evidence is cumulative, you simply need to add to your portfolio over time in order to progress through the grades as your experience grows.
